TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD:-NEW YORK, NOV. 7, 1868. The interview between Captain General Ler-andi and several citizens of Havans on the 24th it concerning the present state of affairs in Cuba has merely been alluded to in some of the newspapers of this city; but I have a verbatim report of nat interview, giving full details of it, which runs

Seeing that as yet not even the slightest promise has been made that cluba will enjoy the inbral rights processimed by the new government of Spain and that intense excitement is growing out of it, coupled with an insurrection in the eastern department of this island, it was thought advisable to confer with the Captain General of Cuba on this critical state of affairs. Accordingly permission was asked of him for a conference, which was granted, and over forty of the most induential citizens, both Spaniards and Cubanas, met on the 2th inst. at the palace of the Captain General. There were present Messrs. Pelligen, Rato, Zolneta, Yhaliez, Martinez-Valcilvieso, Argudin, Colmenarcs, Ojero, Duran, J. M. Morales, J. M. Mestre, Count Cañongo, Marquis de Agnas Charas, Morales Lemus, J. Poey, A. M. Muloz, G. Jorrin, Gonzalez de Mendosa, J. M. Mora, R. Herrera, M. Arozarenn, Martin R. Vero, Fernandez-Bramosio, Colonel Modet and several others. On their appearance before the Captain Ceneral he remarked that he did not expect to meet so large an assembage of cluzons, "But never mind," he added, "the larger the assemblage the greater the honor. I shall be happy to lissen to you with the nonerstanding that one of you will speak. I will answer, and there shall be no further discussion." Profound slence ensuel for a few moments, when General Lersundt broke it by exclammer—than Notody Speaks, Mr. Rato [9] Then this gentland not selected the present state of tainings in this isand. These brief words being uttered, dead silence prevailed once more, as the cl cumstances were emburrassing and even paunful. But Mr. Mestre availing immself of the remarks of his colleague, took the door and spoke as follows:—"Although I am aware that instead of the first I should be the last to speak on this occasion, the although a should be left unspoken. To be sure in conversation with Mr. Rato and several othe

Before any other gentleman could ask leave to speak General Lersundi answered in the following strain:

"I thought that a certain number of citizens wished this conference to tender their services to me in the present emergency; but I see that they have come merely to show want of considence in the chief of this island, to criticise his acts and prefer very grave charges against him. True, it has been asserted that from the revolution in Spain certain rights have accrued and are acknowledged to all the Spaniards, and that the persons who have constituted a provisional government at Madrid wish to extend those rights to this island. In answer I have to say that a certain person has interposed himself between the metropolis and this province, and that personage is myself. I have received no direct communication from that government, even by telgraph, except one from the Sccretary for the Colonies, which communication I ordered to be published in full. What else can I do in favor of Cuba and in the performance of my duty beyond the sacrifice of my personal sympathies and affections? I am determined to fulfil the orders which may come from the government of Madrid—the government of General Serrano. I have received this island as part and parcel of the nation, and I will defiver it back as such, because my honor rises to the very throne of God. To do good to Cuba neither meetings of the people nor freedom of the press are necessary. What you are asking of me now is just what is being asked by the people under arms in the eastern department of the island. Why do you not appoint two commissioners to ask the insurrectionists to lay down their arms? Why does not El País newspaper energetically reprobate the insurrectionary movement? But I have the power to check and punish both the revolutionists in that department and the agitators here."

The severity of this language was increased by a flerce gesture and the passionate tone with which it was uttered, to the bewilderment of the gentlemen who called upon the Capatin Ge

Arrest of a Rebel General-Taken to Police

Arrest of a Rebel General—Taken to Police Headquarters on a Truck.

About noon yesterday a member of the Broadway squad drove up to Police Headquarters, No. 300 Mulberry street, having in charge the body of a man who was slightly intoxicated. This is a common occurrence in Matherry street, and no notice was taken of the occurrence by the employes. As the general was being carried from the truck by the officer and turnkey Hayes a gentleman, who was familiar with the antecedents of the unfortunate man, approached him and the recognition was mutual. The man was locked up in the wden" under No. 200 Mulberry street and Dr. Armstrong called to attend him. It was soon noised abroad that the poor inebriate was an ex-rebel general who had played a conspicuous part in the rebellion and distinguished himself at Nashville and Stono river. He was too drunk to give his name. The officer (sherwood) took possession of his papers, but refused to give his name. On the facts having been reported to Inspector Dikk he requested Captain loung, chief of detectives, to visit the man in his cell and ascertain his name. The captain aroused the man from his drunken stupor and learned that his name was Ramsay.

This man has had a remarkable history. Originally he was a Northern man who went South before the war, When it broke out he three his fortunes in with dovernor Islam G. Harris, of Tennessee, whose friend he was, was commissioned colonel of the Pitta Teanessee regiment and rendered distinguished a rivice in several battles, including the ones above named.

a rvice in several battles, including the ones above named.

After the war closed he settled in St. Paul, Minnesota, and became attached to a unity paper in that city. A year ago he arrived in this city, and the gentleman who yesterday recognized him at headquarters found him in Park row in a semi-drunken condition. He was taken to his hotel and cared for.

In August last, while Justice Shandley was filling Justice Ledwith's position at Jefferson Market, General Hamsay was arraigned upon the charge of intoxication. The gentleman who met him yesterday at Poince Headquarters happened to be present, and on representing the case to the Justice he was retained in the station house until he had become soher and was then discharged, since that time he has been attached to a Broadway irm in a subordinate capacity. Yesterday he was taken to prison on a truck, as aiready recorded. He is a member of a distinguished New England family, and corresponds with and is related to some of the abiest statesmen in Connection with the rebel cause.

So much for his connection with the rebel cause.

A meeting of this society was held last evening at Delmonto's for the election of officers for the ensuring suitable arrangements for the annual dinner, which is to be held on the 7th of December next. The benevolent sand sociable objects of this ancient and distinguished society are aircady well known. Its exclusiveness is no doubt justified by its intentions, and though its charity is unostentiations, it is nevertheless unbounted, as the good feeling which it extends is universal and thoroughly approciated. At the meeting link of the city, it was referred to a committee.

A meeting of the prominent planters is to be held in Goldsboro on the lith inst., to adopt measures to encourage the immigration on a large scale. The Fauquier (Va.) Land Journal makes a most encouraging exhibit in regard to the sales of Virginia lands and the accession of new settlers within the past twelve months. $500,000 worth of property has been sold to actual settlers within a radius of ten miles around Warrenton since the close of the war."

Parties from the North engaged in the shipbuilding interest are now here (says the Norfolk Journal), at Armstrong's sawmill, getting out perfectly straignt timbers for a ship to be built at New York. In that city they have newly invented machinery for bending the timbers of a ship to the required shape. Heretofore the difficulty with timber getters has been to get crooked stuff for timbers; now the difficulty is to get suitable straight stuff.

At a recent land sale in Houston county, Ga., a tract, containing 449 acres, about three miles from Fort Valley, and on which there were only moderate improvements, sold for $5,040. A tract lying immediately on the other side of the road from this, containing 500 acres, with no improvements, sold for $2,500. Another piece of land, containing twenty-four acres, and on which there were a few improvements, and used as a tanyard, sold for $50. A half acre city lot in Fort Valley was also sold, belonging to the same estate, for $1,005.

The Charlottesville Chronicle says:—"We are glad to see that our Virginia cioth factories are being gradually revived and are sending out even better cloth than before the war. We notice in one of our exchanges reference to the Buckland factory in Fauquier, speaking in high terms of the cloth made. Our Charlottesville woollen mills, which have only been in full operation for about six months, are now turning out cloth of as good quality probably as can be made in the United States. On a recent visit to Norfolk we saw it for sale there and, strange to say, the jobbing house which sold it there purchased it in New York. Made in Virginia, it had been shipped to New York and back ann passed through several unnecessary hands, with a profit added each stime of course, before it got back to the Virginia consumer. The fact, however, of its being selected in New York by the Norfolk merchant and brought back shows that

A STRANGE CUSTOMER.-Officer Gleson, of the Forty-second precinct, took into custody a singular individual whom he found wandering along Flatindividual whom he found wandering along Flat-bush avenue in an aimiess manner, at a late hour on Sunday night, and who answered questions put to him in such a manner as to leave serious doubts as to his sanity. He was taken before Justice Cornwell yesterday on a charge of vagrancy, and stated to the Justice that his name was James Gallagher, that his parents resided in Westchester county and that he had been serving a term in the State Prison for burn-ing a barn, but had been discharged a few days ago. The Justice communited him to jail and has communi-cated with the authorities of the place where he says his parents live in order to obtain some information about him.

It appears some of the family were attracted by a noise, like that of a man walking on the roof of the piazza, and Mr. Hannah, who was in the house at the ting, stepped out of the second story window on the roof and discovered a man endeavoring to concean himself near the corner of the house. He went up to the fellow, and was about to take him into custody when he drew a revolver and deliberately shot Mr. Hannah in the mouth. The burgiar successed in enfecting his escape before any alarm could be given. Mr. Hannah's injuries are of a serious if not fatal character.

The Mayor sent in a communication vetoing the resolution passed for the appointment of Joseph Green as engineer of Engine No. 10, W. D., on the ground that the steamer in question is not owned by the city nor are there any funds applicable for the payment of the salary of such engineer.

The Iss and the Outs.
It is an old saying that "no wrong pros It is an old saying that "no wrong prospers long." The fraternity of speculators in whiskey and of raiders on the revenue are about to feel the full truth of it. They believed themselves secure, and in their confidence of safety they worked industriously and profitably for their own gain and to the detriment of the national revenue. They formed a "ring," encircling in its embrace nearly the whole district of country from the Atlantic to the Mississippi, and they were shrewd, or rather lucky enough to weld this "ring" together with a sufficient quantity of the consciences of persons high and influential in the revenue service. Hence they thought they were safe. Hence agnitude from week to week and from month to month, and some of the very men commissioned and paid by the country to prevent this nefarious trade protecting it, having been won over to become the very solder of the "ring," the very "metallic cement"

Thus the "ring" has rolled along its course, but it seems about to have reached the end of the line. up and to have a thorough judicial examination of its component parts. He did not succeed. His intentions were undoubtedly good, but whether his abili-ties were the same in degree as his intentions, that is still a mooted question. But now it apears that President Johnson is determined to stop the still further onward roll of this "ring" by "putting his foot down firmly," and to have this selfsame ring, whether of gold or steel, on the anvil of public inquisition crushed by the sledgehammer of long betrayed justice. An old nursery song para-phrased to meet the occasion, may be used to designate the present condition of this "whiskey

All big whiskey dealers
And the corn distillers
Thought they had it their own way;
But there came Judge Fullerton,
With his big mallet on,
And drove the scamps away.

And the care dealers.

Thought they had it their own way;
But there came Judge Fullerton,
With his big maliet on,
And drove the scamps away.

For so it is. In the Herant of Sunday morning a special despatch from Washington announced the fact that Judge Fullerton and Mr. Charles C. veaton, his associate in the investigation, had had interviews at Washington the day previous with the President and Attorney General, and that a number of wild rumors were immediately started as to the intended suspension or removals of prominent officials, directly or indirectly connected with the collection of the revenue. Already, on Saturday afternoon, private despatches from the capital to interested parties in this city and elsewhere brought these rumors, coupled with the fact that the merviews mentioned had taken place. The news brought by these private messages was kept a secret; it could no longer be neld back when the whole public was informed of it through the columns of the ligrant on Sunday. Through this source everybody had an opportunity of knowing what was going on in the highest circles of government; but sunday was a bad day for general consultation, and though a few coteries got together at private residences, and others met accidentally at up town hotels, the full extent of the consternation produced by the despatch could not then be known.

Not so yesterday. It was known early in the morning that Judge Fullerton had returned, and all parties interested, the most influential of the ring, were continually on the tiptoe of expectation as to what he would do and what would be developed in the course of the day. It was said, of course in the most confidential way, that the head man man of the "ring"—one who is more largely interested or engaged in the whisky trade than any other person in the country, and who, residing now in this city, has his webs spun to every principal city of the Middle and Western States as a far as St. Louis and even up to Dahuque—it was said that this man had received during yeaterday a number

There were others, however, who took a different view of the matter; they looked upon it as more serious. They thought, and expressed their thoughts in rather forcibic language, that the present move its, after all the former failures, intended to be no child's play; that it emanated from the President himself, either at the advice, or at any rate with the assistance of Attorney General Evarts; and that it was well understood that the affidavits now in the hands of such high authorities as the "ring" could not reach, were sufficient, in their detailed statement of facts, and with the corroborative testimony adduced, to swamp a whole regiment of government officers, high and low, and with them a host of dealers, in one common deluge of disgrace. It is needless to say that this latter declaration on the part of some of the shrewdest parties within the "ring" provoked some very long faces, and at the several offices, where they and a number of revenue attaches have been in the habit of meeting "for business," this subject was the topic of earnest conversation.

As yet no definite plan or stratagem of defence has been resolved on, nor can it be until the line of attack is discovered. But it is to be hoped, in the interest of the people, who have to bear the increased burden of taxation on account of these frauds on the revenue, that the present war upon the whiskey "ring" may succeed in crushing it.
